

Total marks — 25
Attempt ALL questions

1. Aluminium carbonate can be produced by the following reaction.

The most suitable method for separating the aluminium carbonate from the mixture is

- A filtration
- B distillation
- C evaporation
- D collection over water.