

19. Which of the following will result in the volume of the products being half the volume of the reactants?

