

3. Atoms of different elements have different attractions for bonding electrons. Electronegativity is a measure of the attraction an atom involved in a bond has for the electrons in the bond.

Using your knowledge of chemistry, discuss the importance of electronegativity in bonding, structure and properties of compounds.

3

* X 8 1 3 7 6 0 1 0 8 *