

14. A student sets up the following apparatus to investigate photoemission from a zinc plate.

The reading on the ammeter can be increased by

- A replacing the ultraviolet radiation with visible light
- B replacing the ultraviolet radiation with infrared radiation
- C decreasing the irradiance at the zinc plate
- D reversing the connections to the battery
- E allowing air into the glass tube.